

Update from Tukes Education at The Hub

During this academic year, Tukes have continued to develop the education and training that is available to both service users and NAViGO staff. Work related admin staff training has been well received by those who have attended, saying how nice it is to have course aimed specifically at developing skills relevant to their role. A basic level ICT course aimed at both staff and service users has been delivered over the course of 12 weeks, with 8 Tukes members and 2 staff members having attended, integrating staff and service users training.

Tukes are exploring ways to improve the education service to reduce anxiety about moving on to training at the next level. It has been suggested that all Maths, English and ICT levels will be delivered on set days with the same tutor delivering each subject.

Courses delivered by Tukes staff week commencing 16th April include:

- Job Club
- Reception Training
- E-Learning
- Basic Bespoke Entry Level 2 Computer Training
- Pre-Entry Level Maths & English
- Staff and Tukes member bespoke basic ICT course
- Dyslexia, visual stress, literacy, numeracy and ICT screenings (also available to NAViGO staff)

Garden Party with the Queen...

Jo Keen and Phil Rudd have been nominated to represent Tukes and NAViGO at a Garden Party at Buckingham Palace.

Every year The Queen hosts garden parties in the grounds of Buckingham Palace as a way of recognising and rewarding people who have made contributions to public service.

The Queen and The Duke of Edinburgh, accompanied by other members of the Royal Family, speak to a range of people all of whom have made a positive impact on their community.

Every year at the Buckingham Palace Garden Parties around 27,000 cups of tea are served, 20,000 sandwiches and 20,000 slices of cakes are consumed.
